Not Much Opposition to the Admission of Territories.

The Republican Side of the House Weakens Under the Force of Senators Dubois and Carr's Arguments.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 12.—Senator Dubois, of Idaho, and Carr, of Wyoming, were in the house a large portion of the time yesterday afternoon laboring with the members on the republican side, trying to get them to withdraw their opposition to the admission bills for the territories. It will be remembered that Mr. Dingley, of Maine, made the fight against Utah, and it was with him that the western senators consulted. The opposition which Mr. Dingley urges was the peculiar theory of the supposed dominant party in Utah. To this Senator Dubois said that he led the fight in opposition to the Mormon church in former years and he was perfectly satisfied to have Utah admitted if the people of that territory had adopted the conditions of civilization in regard to their religion, which was entirely satisfactory to all people. Senators Dubois and Carr expect that all the territorial bills will pass at the session.

LABOR CONVENTION.

Non-union Theaters Boycotted by the Delegates.

Delegation of Ministers Visit the Mail and Express Company With the Federation and Its Sentiments.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The delegates to the convention of the Federation of Labor began today's session by announcing that during their stay in Chicago they will not attend theaters where non-union stage workers are employed. A protest has been sent to the federation complaining that the managers of four theaters here employ non-union men and on this the action was taken. After considerable discussion a proposition to print 20,000 copies of the speech delivered yesterday by H. D. Lloyd was adopted. A delegate moved to allow Gov. Altgeld to appear and address the convention, but was ruled out of order by President Gompers. A proposition to request Editor Stead to address the delegates was also dropped, and David Ebin, an economist from San Francisco, was called upon for a speech. A delegation of Chicago ministers was admitted to the convention. Dr. H. W. Thomas made an address, in which he assured the delegates that he and his fellow clergymen are in sympathy with the federation and its sentiments.

BIG PROFIT IN BEER.

Annual Report of One of the World's Largest Brewery.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The annual report of the Milwaukee and Chicago breweries was sent to the stockholders in this city yesterday. A summary of the profit account of the American company, the accounts of which have been examined by the auditors, Messrs. Price, Waterhouse & Co., shows the net profits for the year, after providing for repairs, depreciation, interest on bonds, etc., amount to $808,120 28. Of this sum dividends amounting to $750,000 have been declared by the American company, and, with the balance brought forward, there remains to the credit of the profit account of that company $151,722 87, which has been carried to a reserve fund. Out of the dividend declared by the American company, the sum of $153,970 4s 7d has been brought into the company's account in respect of the shares held by it. The report shows that 16 per cent. has been earned on the ordinary shares of the company.

A GREAT CHANNEL

To be Built Between Chicago and Joliet, Ill.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—The board of trustees of the sanitary district of Chicago have arranged on Thursday, Dec. 28th next, for a congressional inspection of the great channel now under construction between Chicago and Joliet, a distance of thirty-five miles. This channel, popularly known as the drainage canal, is designed primarily to relieve the sanitary condition of the Chicago river and at the same time complete a great waterway which will connect the lakes and the Mississippi. It is the last feature of the work, a government feature, which the senators and representatives from Illinois are expected to look into. The entire work will cost Chicago about $30,000,000.

WAS A CRANK,

But It Took Six Hundred Policemen to Watch Him.

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Over 600 policemen were held in reserve last night to quell a possible outbreak at the lake front, were not disturbed this morning. John Westgarth, supposedly a crank, had issued a call for 10,000 men to meet him at the lake front at daybreak and move against the city with a demand for work or bread. But John and his army failed to materialize and the policemen were allowed to break ranks.

He was a close friend of Grant.

It is reported that the watchman was bound by robbers and burned in the building to which they set fire.

ANARCHISTS CAST LOTS

To Decide Who Should Throw the Fatal Bomb.

Vaillant Almost Admitted Much to the Authorities Today—Two of His Associates in Jail.

PARIS, Dec. 12.—While Vaillant was in this city he mixed with an anarchist named Gruillot, who was afterwards lynched here. By a singular coincidence Vaillant, last week, visited the Abbe Lemire, who was among the deputies injured by the explosion of Vaillant's bomb. Abbe Lemire took Vaillant's name and address and gave him a few francs. Vaillant almost admits that he drew lots with other anarchists to decide who should undertake the murderous work. Ten anarchists were with him in the gallery and they are now in custody. All of them have spent a portion of their lives in England, showing that the anarchists are affiliated together, and eventually will be found to be subsidized by patrons who have been generally regarded as apostles of less militant doctrines.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 12.—Albert H. Brunes, receiving cashier of the Rochester Savings bank, suicided by shooting himself at his home at 8 o'clock this morning. He had been ill for three weeks, suffering from a severe attack of the grip, and it is supposed that despondency prompted his act.

FAMOUS MURDER TRIAL

Is Begun in the Courts at Edinburg, Scotland.

It Involves the Solution of What is Known as the "Ardlamont Murder Mystery."

EDINBURGH, Dec. 12.—The long-expected trial of Alfred John Monson, a tutor charged with the murder of Lieut. Windsor Dudley Cecil Hambrough, opened this morning in the sheriff's court, before Lord Kingsburgh, lord justice clerk of Scotland.

The trial just commenced involves the solution of what is known as the "Ardlamont murder mystery," and dates from August last, when Lieutenant Hambrough was found dead from a gunshot wound, in a wood near Ardlamont house, near Ardlamont bay, one of the loveliest parts of the Clyde, at the entrance of the famous Kyles of Bute, and about twenty minutes' steam from Rothesay, the loveliest seaside resort in Scotland.

The number of witnesses and reporters present in court this morning was so great that very few of the public were admitted, and those who managed to get inside were relegated to three rows of seats at the back of the gallery. The body of the court was divided up into the press side, the witnesses' side and a portion was set apart for the artists of many papers desirous of illustrating the incidents of the trial.

The trial of Monson is of special interest to all life insurance companies, especially to the Mutual Life Insurance company, which is interested to the extent of $100,000, as it had two policies of $50,000 each on the lieutenant's life, policies which are said to have been secured through Monson.

Monson, the prisoner, is a short, slim, very young looking, clean shaven, very gentlemanly man. He was thoroughly composed and wore a long, dark brown overcoat, from the breast pocket of which a light silk handkerchief was tastefully placed.

The lord justice addressed the prisoner in a strong, low, monotonous voice, which could be heard distinctly in every part of the court room; saying: "You have already pleaded 'not guilty' to the charges brought against you. Do you adhere to this plea of not guilty? Monson, the prisoner, then arose from his seat in the dock, and turning towards the lord justice he said in a clear and steady voice, 'I do, my lord.'"

The work of selecting a jury to try the prisoner was then quickly proceeded with and fifteen "good and true men" were soon obtained and sworn to do their duty. The prisoner was noticed to watch the selection of the jury with the keenest attention; not a movement, an expression or a word upon the part of any of the jurymen escaped him and he eagerly scanned their faces as they took seats in the jury box, evidently weighing over in his mind his chances of convincing one and all of the jurymen of his innocence.

The first witness called was James Brand, a civil engineer, who with the aid of a map gave a full description of the Ardlamont house and the ground surrounding it. Mr. Brand also gave in the most minute detail the measurements of the distances from place to place where the body was found to the various trees and to the surrounding spots. Much importance seemed to be attached to the evidence of Civil Engineer Brand.

His cross examination developed the fact that this examination of the ground was made two months after the death of Lieutenant Hambrough and that all information in regard to where the body was found came from the others. The civil engineer was also examined at length as to the nature of the top of the dyke, near which the body was found, the defense evidently trying to show that it was necessary to walk with the greatest care in the spot in order to prevent falling.

FOUGHT TO A DRAW.

A Pugilistic Contest Held at London.

LONDON, Dec. 12.—There was a pugilistic contest at the National Sporting club last night between Tom Williams, of Australia, who fought with "Mysterious" Billy Smith at the Coney Island Athletic club last spring, and Robinson, alias Cark Robin, of London. The fight was for 100 pounds aside and a purse of 100 pounds given by the club. The men fought twenty rounds and the referee decided the contest was a draw. Williams fractured two bones of his left arm and Robinson injured one of his thumbs.

RULED FROM THE TURF.

A Kentucky Youth Who Won Fifty Thousand Dollars.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 12.—Charles Riley Grannan, a Kentucky youth who came to this city three weeks ago and who is reputed to have won $50,000 since he opened a book at Bay District race track, was ruled from the turf at a meeting of the board of stewards of Blood Horse association last evening. Grannan complained to the judges that horseman had approached him with a proposition to fix a race, stating their horses would run first or last. The young Kentuckian refused to divulge the names of the man who he charged with corruption and was blacklisted.

FINANCIAL MATTERS.

A Receiver Ousted by Force at Dowagic.

Antiman & Co. Bring the Akron Iron Company Into the Turbulent Financial Waters.

DOWAGIC, Mich., Dec. 12.—The Michigan Trust company, of Grand Rapids, as receiver for the Dowagic Manufacturing company, took forcible possession of the plant yesterday and were in turn ejected at midnight by General Manager Lyle and a force of 200 men. The plant, used in the manufacture of grain drills, is valued at $1,000 000 and employes about 300 men.

AKRON, Ohio, Dec. 12.—The Akron Iron company has gone into the hands of a receiver, J. A. Long, secretary of the company, being appointed by the court. This action was caused by the fact that the firm was intimately associated with C. Antman & Co., of Canton, and was indorsed for considerable paper of the failed firm. Lewis Miller, who made the application for a receiver, is president of both concerns. Liabilities of the Akron Iron company are given at $600,000 and assets at $600,000.

THE U. S. COURT

In Session at the Government Building.

Some of the Cases Already Disposed of—Prisoners Before the Circuit Court.

The United States court convened in the court rooms at the government building this morning, with United States Circuit Court Judge J. H. Baker on the bench, and United States Clerk of the Court Noble C. Butler, with Deputy Clerk T. J. Logan, at the clerk's table. United States Marshal W. H. Hawkins, Attorney John B. Cockrum, W. H. Hackedorn, general attorney for the Lake Erie and Western; Morris M. DuFree, of the Indianapolis Board of Public works; S. B. Witty and E. H. Ferry, all of Indianapolis, were also in attendance.

The case of the United States against James Kelley for violating the pension laws was called and continued until the next term of court. J. E. Harper appeared for the prisoner. Mr. Harper also appeared for Owen Farren, who pleaded guilty to the charge of violating the revenue laws and was fined $10 and costs. The case of the Continental Store company against Henry H. Arnold was dismissed for want of prosecution. Edward Woodworth was, on motion, admitted to practice before the United States courts and the court was then adjourned until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

This afternoon the case against Dr. Thayer for violating the postal laws was called as were also several cases against railroads for damages, the attention of the particulars of which has been made in THE SENTINEL. At the opening of the afternoon session the jury was called and sworn in.

One of the most important damage suits to be tried is that of Adolph Wertheim, a prominent resident of Peru, against the Lake Erie and Western railroad company for $10,000 damages. Mr. Wertheim was seriously hurt in the wreck near Peru about a year ago, when two men lost their lives and several others were seriously hurt. W. M. Wright, the traveling insurance adjuster, of Indianapolis, is also suing for $25,000, Willet Fisher and W. F. Bryson each ask $15,000 damages.

The Board of Public Works of That City Grants Them an $84,-000 Job.

The Indianapolis Journal has the following to say of a well known Fort Wayne firm which has secured a good contract in that city: "The board of works yesterday morning awarded the contract for the construction of the White river main intercepting sewer, to cost nearly $84,000. This sewer is to be 9,933 feet in length. There was six bids, the lowest of which was that of Wilding & Durheimer, of Fort Wayne, to whom the contract was awarded at $8.75 a lineal foot. The gentlemen will begin work this week with 100 men if the weather continues pleasant. The following were the bids: Daniel Foley $14 10; William Bossert, $12 38; Acme Paving and Contracting company, $11.93; Palmer, Seibert & Co., $10 80; A. Bruner, $11.90; Wilding & Durheimer, $8 75."

Secretary—Wm. P. Duffy.
Treasurer—Hugo Logan.

The executive committee consisted of one member from each organization represented, as follows: Typographical union, Ed Aborn; Stonecutters, G. L. Haag; Stonemasons, Frank Egbel; Cigarmakers, J. A. C. Cook; Street Caremployes, C. Nickerson; Carpenters, Fred Koehke; Bollermakers, F. M. Reese; Firemen, C. C. Ward; Trainmen's lodge 136, H. A. Short; Trainmen's lodge 312, J. B. The meeting was called for the purpose of considering just what shape the Fort Wayne laboring man were in to withstand the winter. The object of the union will be to solicit aid for the purpose of helping the needy. President Cohen states that not to much cash is needed as provisions. The union meets again next Monday evening.

STEAMBOAT SANK.

Loaded With Insane Patients—All Escape.

A HINDOO ORATOR.

Baptist Church, December 18 and 19.

Narsimha Acharya, the most noted and prominent oriental delegate at the World's Fair Parliament of Religions, held during the world's fair, will deliver two lectures at the Baptist church, Monday and Tuesday evenings, Dec. 18 and 19. Course tickets will be fifty cents; single admission, twenty-five cents.

This is an event of much more than ordinary moment. Narisima is a high caste Brahmin, a native of India and delegate from Madrid of the late parliament. He is a highly educated scholar and speaks the purest English.

He delivers his lectures in the costume of the high priest and illustrates them with large paintings.

On one of the evenings India tea will be served at a nominal cost.

To those who were not able to attend the parliament, this affords a fine opportunity to see and hear this celebrated oriental scholar. The price—fifty cents for two lectures—is phenomenally cheap. The subjects will be, "India and Its People," and "Religions and Women of the Orient."

This is an opportunity of a life time. You can not afford to miss it. 12-14

The family of W. M. Schwartz, of this city, were yesterday poisoned by eating hash. Dr. Schultze attended them.

MAY BE CLOSED.

Movement on Foot to Abandon the Temple as a Theater,

And a New Opera House May Be Built in Some Other Part of the City.

It looks very much as if the Masonic Temple building will be used entirely by the Masons for lodge purposes and the opera house part done away with, at least a number of prominent Masons are trying to bring this about. It would be difficult to lease the opera house rooms again at the price they are now receiving, unless they were thoroughly overhauled, and this the Masons do not seem inclined to do. If it is used entirely as a lodge building it will be exempt from taxation. The present lease on the building expires next November, and Mr. Simonson says that if anything is done it must be soon as the theatrical dates are being made now for next year. He thinks the best location for a new theater is the Foster building, on Court street, as it extends from street to street and is convenient to get at from both sides. He says this building could be arranged so as to make a handsome and commodious theater. Another gentleman, in talking to a SENTINEL representative, suggested that one of the best sites for a new opera house would be the Graffe property, on Calhoun, between Washington and JeSarson streets. At any rate we feel sure that if the Masons intend to close their building for theater purposes some one will erect an opera house. We need a large music hall that will seat 3,000 people, and such a building seems to be a necessity in our rapidly growing city. Now don't let every person build at once as was the case in the hotel business. One will pay, and only one.

HUGH CRYE'S LAWYERS

Reply to the Criticisms Made About the Verdict.

They Believe the Evidence Justified an Acquittal—News Notes in the Courts.

Hon. W. G. Colerick and J. R. Bitsinger, the attorneys of Hugh Crye, who was convicted in the circuit court of manslaughter and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years for killing Leonidas Boyer, send THE SENTINEL the following in reply to the criticisms made concerning the verdict in the case:

Editor SENTINEL.

In view of the unjust criticisms made by newspapers on the verdict rendered in the Hugh Crye case, we, as the attorneys for the defendant, feel that it is our duty, as an act of justice to the jury who rendered the verdict, to briefly state the facts in the case.

Before doing so it is proper to state who composed the jury. It consisted of Charles Gribbol, Calvin Winch, James Smith, Martin Metcalf, Franklin P. Otto, Marion Smith, Joseph Burrier, John Valentine, John Rapp, William J. Beddle, Jules Gerard and James Hanlon.

The three first named reside in the city, while all the others are farmers. Eight of the jurors are members of the regular panel. Every juror was a man of property, influence, intelligence and honor and justly enjoy the respect of all who know them. A more intelligent and honorable body of men never acted as jurors in this county.

To characterize these men as "blockheads" and "fools" and their verdict "an outrage," is rank injustice. Even an unbridled press, with all its liberty, should have some regard for the honor and characters of men. The assault that has been made upon the jurors in this case because they, in the conscientious performance of their sworn duty as jurors, differ in their conclusion from persons who did not hear the evidence and upon whom no such duty rested, is inexcusable. The jury would have been justified, on the evidence, in acquitting the defendant and should have done so.

What were the facts, as testified to by witnesses, under oath, and whose evidence the jury had no right to ignore, or disregard. Two brutal men, giants in physical strength, inflamed and excited by liquor, for supposed fancied wrongs, assaulted, struck and beat the defendant, in the presence of his father, without cause or provocation, and when the father rushes to the aid of his son, he had a lawful right to do, he is intercepted on his way by a brother of one of the assailants who is armed with a loaded revolver, which he draws, and attempts to use, but the father by the use of a knife which he holds in his hand, saves himself, and then one of the two assailants shoots the father through the heart with a loaded ball, in the presence and sight of the son, who seeing his father stag gering from the effects of the mortal injury he received, rushes to his aide and finds him dead, and then the son instantly, without a moment's time for thought or deliberation, seizes a gun and shoots one of the assailants, the one whom he supposed and reasonably believed from appearances was the one who fired the ball that killed his father.

To say that the defendant under these circumstances could be justly convicted of any other offense than that of manslaughter would be a misstatement of the law, and all just men will concur in saying that the slightest punishment fixed by the law for manslaughter is the greatest punishment that should have been inflicted upon him.

W. G. COLERICK,
J. R. BITSINGER,
Attorneys for defendant.

COURT NEWS.

The salary of the county attorneys is $1 200 instead of $1,400 a year, as published.

Prosecutor Colerick says the case against Dr. J. W. Younge has not been dismissed. Mr. Colerick says it is still on the docket and the only reason for delaying the trial has been that the attorneys for Dr. Younge asked for time.

The will of Sarah Ring, deceased, has been admitted to probate. It was executed November 1, 1894. All property is left to relatives and W. F. Breen was named as executor.

The will of Bernard G. Bentar was executed November 21 last, and the property is for the most part left to his widow, the children to inherit it after her death. Mary G. Bentar, the wife, was named as executrix.

The supervisor court at Indianapolis has ruled that a day for election purposes is twenty-four hours, and this has made a day's wages difference in the payment of election officers. It was sought by election board officers to get pay under the eight hour law.

The board of commissioners considered liquor licenses yesterday. The citizens of Maples were up in force to protest against granting a license to James Fry, of Maples. During the progress of the hearing Mr. Fry withdrew his application for a license and the case was dismissed. Four licenses were refused because of irregular publications.

Volume 138 of the Indiana supreme court reports was issued last week. The distribution will be in charge of the state, being conducted for the first time under the law passed by the last legislature. The old price was $3 a volume, but the new book will be sold for $1 50. The edition is 2,000. There are 700 pages in the book, or 100 more than in previous ones. The sixth appellate reports will be out within a month.

Miss Clara Walker, the self-confessed child murderess, was sentenced to one year in the penitentiary by Judge Hickie, at Lima, yesterday. It will be remembered that the girl threw her babe from a train on the Fort Wayne road one day last August, and its brains were dashed out. She was arraigned on the charge of manslaughter, to which she pleaded guilty. The young woman's mother died when she was but three months old. Her father is addicted to drink and drove her from home to earn her own living. The author of her ruin was never arrested.

SOUTH SIDE FOOTPADS.

Conductor E. Noble Attacked on Sam day Night—Still Says Not Mrs. Geo. A. Burree.

Sunday night, as Conductor E. Noble, of the street car service, was on his way home about midnight, he was accosted by two footpads, who attempted to hold him up. Mr. Noble was on Lafayette street and when passing Waltemath's grocery, two men sprang out upon him and commanded him to stop. This Mr. Noble did not intention of doing and kept on down the sidewalk with the two men following him. When he reached the first alley he turned and ran up the alley like a deer, thus eluding the two men who were evidently not looking for such a proceeding. Many street car men are now going armed. It is thought the footpads were the same who held up Engineer Slagle the other night.

YOUNG MARAUDERS.

Last evening about 6 o'clock, while Mrs. George A. Durfee, of 34 Butler street, was on her way home she was set upon by two small boys at the corner of Harrison and Butler streets. The boys were trying to imitate wild west highwaymen and the oldest sprang out upon the lady and shouted, "Your money or your life!" The smaller boy got scared and ran but the older attempted to seize Mrs. Durfee's pocketbook, which she carried in her hand. A struggle followed and the little villain finally succeeded in getting hold of the lady's purse and ran. In the purse was a few dollars in silver and some papers of no great value. Mrs. Durfee did not recognize the young rascal, but thinks he lives on Butler or South Harrison street.

URGENT FUNDS NEEDED.

Robberies are occurring all over the city these days, and either the police department knows nothing of them or is keeping them quiet.

Saturday night there were three or four robberies in the city, and of this number that of Alfred M. Webster's grocery store, at the corner of Lincoln and Home avenues, was probably the most importants. Some time during the night house breakers cut a panel in the door and, reaching in, pulled back the bolt. They then entered and ransacked the place. The following list of articles were taken: Thirty pounds tobacco, two boxes chewing gum, seventy five cigars, ten pounds candy and one box silver polish.

INDUSTRIAL ASSOCIATIONS

Will Meet at Indianapolis the First Week in January.

The congress of Indiana industrial associations will meet at Indianapolis the first week in January. It will bring together 1,000 or 1,500 people. A year ago the state board of agriculture decided to have the state industrial societies all meet at the same time if possible. After considerable correspondence the following organizations have arranged program and have been assigned to apartments in the capitol for the week's meeting: State Board of Agriculture, the Farmers' Reading Circle, and the Swine Breeders', Short-Horn Breeders', Bee Keepers' and Civil Engineers' associations, and the Indiana Highway improvement association. The latter is the outgrowth of the road congress held last December. It will meet January 10 and 11. Since the organization of the association a dozen state organizations have begun active work. Several changes in the laws are recommended by the association, which will be taken up for discussion at the next meeting. Hiram J. Nitinkl is president of the association, and Evans Woollen is secretary.

The demands for charity appeal to every heart.

"Now abideth faith, hope and charity, these three; but the greatest of these is charity."

People who complain of hard times in this blessed country should cast their eyes upon unhappy Brazil.

An increase in the tax on cigarettes should result in cigarettes stinking worse than they do—but that is impossible.

A lady older than the constitution of the United States has just died in New Orleans. She must have had a good constitution herself.

The Christmas holidays are rapidly approaching and many are looking for the best places to purchase gifts for their friends. The merchants keeping the best stock of holiday goods advertise in The Sentinel.

While great religious revivals are being held at this time in many of the cities of the union, would it not be well for the ministers of Fort Wayne to make arrangements for either large union meetings or meetings in their own churches. This promises to be a great year of religious awakenings.

The ways and means committee has very properly changed the date for the Wilson tariff bill's taking effect from March 1 to June 1. It is obvious that the earlier date not only allowed insufficient time for debate, but, coming as it did, at the very beginning of spring, would unsettle, handicap and intimidate the importing trade to a disastrous extent. The change was made at the earnest request of scores of importers.

The National Zeitung announces that Professor Koch will shortly publish a comprehensive work on the improved method of using tuberculin and the diagnostic properties of tuberculin for the recognition of tuberculosis in its first stages. All right, professor, come on with your improved method. If the treatment doesn't cure, the study of the big medical words used in the formula will at least make the patient forget, for the time being, that he ever had any disease.

Since his election to congress in 1876 Governor McKinley has been so constantly in public life that he has had little occasion for a house of his own in his home town of Canton. When there he lives with Mrs. McKinley's family, in the Saxton homestead, or with his own, in the McKinley homestead. At the state capital, Columbus, where the governorship now keeps him, he has avoided setting up a house of his own, partly on account of Mrs. McKinley's uncertain health, and they live in a hotel.

It is estimated that the number of unemployed in Chicago is nearly 117,000 and so great has their suffering become that the Illinois Conference of Charities and Corrections, at a special meeting yesterday, appointed a committee of one hundred representatives to at once proceed to raise a charity fund of $1,000,000 for the relief of the most pressing wants of the worthy and deserving poor. The sentiment of the meeting seemed strong in favor of getting the city authorities to provide work for as many of the unemployed as possible.

The Chinese flag which floats over the new quarters of the Chinese legation in Washington is causing no little comment and criticism in diplomatic circles. It is the first time a foreign flag has waved continuously over a legation in Washington. The ministers of other countries hoist their flags on fete days and then national holidays of their countries, but the Chinese are the first to raise their flag as a regular feature. A member of the diplomatic corps said that China and a few eastern countries were the only ones in which the foreign legations raised their distinctive flags. Western countries had abandoned the custom, and the daily appearance of the Chinese flag in Washington was therefore contrary to the diplomatic usage of the United States and other western countries.

C. W. Williams, the noted horseman of Independence, Iowa, is learning a good deal about the ups and downs of life as he goes along. Less than ten years ago he was a telegraph operator at a salary of $45 per month. He invested a little money in a colt which promised well and which turned out to be a great race horse. Then he got hold of Axtell, the famous trotter. He sold Axtell for $105,000, and in the next two years made a quarter of a million dollars in the horse business. Last year he invested $200,000 in non-paying enterprises, and his great stallion, Allerton, went lame. The other day, the dispatches state, he transferred the bulk of his property in payment of a mortgage. This leaves him practically shorn of his fortune, but as he still owns Allerton and is comparatively a young man he does not despair of again rising in the world.

The officials of the United States senate are taking every precaution consistent with the dignity of that body to prevent an attack from the galleries similar to that made in the French chamber of deputies. No person is permitted to enter the galleries, when the senate is in session, carrying any sort of extra package, and suspicious-looking characters are closely scrutinized when about the senate chamber or in the corridors. The order against the admission of men to the galleries with handbags, umbrellas, or miscellaneous bundles was proclaimed immediately after the attack upon Rossell Sage a year or two ago and has been in force ever since. The senators have never seemed to feel any apprehension on this score, but the sergeant-at-arms argues that it would be an easy matter for a crank with a fancied grievance to enter the galleries and to toss a shell into the chamber below, and the temptation, with so many men of public note within reach, might be more than some of the species might be able to resist. Very seldom in the history of the senate has there been any demonstration from the gallery.

What Alzire Wants.

We are in receipt of an esthetic looking brown pamphlet from the pen of Miss Alzire A. Chevalier. It is on the subject of "Women's Place in the Great Reform Movements of This Age." It is always pleasant to see a person who has the force of his convictions, and this Alzire certainly has. But she is somewhat like the temperance ladies who once petitioned the legislature for a law prohibiting the sale of intoxicants. The ladies toiled through dark and rain, through summer heat and winter cold, visiting all sorts of scary places, till they got signatures to a petition many yards long, respectfully begging the legislature to enact a law abolishing the liquor traffic. The patient house of representatives heard the petition all through with an air of profound respect; then one of the members rose and courteously informed the women that there was already on the statute book exactly such a law as they asked for, and there had been for 15 years. The thing was to get it enforced. So with Alzire's plan. She evidently labors under the hallucination that all legislators have to do is to pass a law, and immediately the people will begin to ramble over one another and break their necks trying to obey it. It won't do, Alzire! Know this: No law can be enforced till public opinion has reached that point where it would obey whether there was any law to that effect or not.

You would have been puzzled establishing free nurseries, free kindergartens, free industrial schools, gymnasiums, baths and playgrounds, eh? to speak of libraries and reading rooms. With all our heart, Alzire, but who is to pay for them? Would you tax the people, whose champion you are, still more heavily than they are now taxed? We learn in the latter part of the pamphlet that nationalism or Christian socialism will be the magical wave of the future and will work all these wonders. We doubt it. Go to work on human nature, Alzire, and make it better; then you will have no need of laws.

One of the lady's suggestions is indeed in the line of practical application. She says that when a poor and libertine is so treated by all good women that he will feel himself a pitiable outcast in society, then these villains will vanish. So they will.

Poverty and Early Marriages.

Some curious facts have been brought to light in connection with vital and social statistics. One is that the poorer people are the earlier they marry. In the lowest classes, if by lowest we mean poorest, marriages are contracted at a very early age. The contracting parties perhaps reason, if they reason at all, that they cannot be any worse off than they already are, and that marriage will at least be a change. It is another curious fact that in the poorest classes, where marriages occur at the earliest age, there are the most unmarried men. Perhaps the hardship of life in the slums is so great that the women and girls die in greater proportion than the men. One reason for the early marriages in the crowding together of the sexes in the swarming quarters of the poor. The most children are also born among the slum population. They die, however, almost as fast as they are born, so that fortunately this class of the population does not increase so rapidly as the well to do class.

Higher in the social scale men and women reason more on the subject of marriages. They know that unless they are in possession of a certain income they cannot live in the class in which they have been brought up. They are ambitious to do this, or even to climb higher; therefore marriage is delayed till they have such income. In the case of women, who have not opportunity to earn money as men have, this income may never come at all; therefore in the comparatively well to do classes unmarried women are largely in excess. In the upper ranks, too, the birth rate is much lower than among the slum people, but ten children that are born do not die as any where near so rapid a rate, so that the population of the better classes increases.

Just before his death H. A. Harvey, who invented the Harveyized steel armor plate now universally in use, began to manufacture a new kind of steel for tracks. It was to be hard on top, so as to resist wear, but soft and tough at the bottom, so as to resist breaking strains. He proposed to have the steel in the upper part of the rail contain one-half of 1 per cent of carbon, the middle portion still less, while the base was to have only two tenths per cent of carbon.

James Smith, an Irishman who died recently in New York at the age of 107 years and 3 months, worked as coal heaver till he was 101. He was 6 feet 2 inches high, and though past 90 when the war broke out he enlisted and served through it as a common soldier. Yet this wonderful old man died destitute. In his youth living if one had to be a coal heaver till he is 101 years old and then live in poverty till he is 107.

Joseph J. Simons, ex-chief of the United States bureau of statistics, reports that agricultural production in New York state costs 41 per cent more than it does just across the Canada line. Now, why should agriculture in New York be 41 per cent more expensive than it is in Canada?

The great American fog is still to it, coughing, spitting and filling the air with disease and impurity for other people to breathe.

Wayne True Blues.

The Wayne True Blues, of whom nearly everybody in this part of the United States has now already heard of, held their much advertised muster last evening. No company in the state of Indiana has a better looking set of young men. The company will now receive arms and uniforms from the government and be assigned to one of the regimenta of the Indiana legion. The contests for the various offices were very close and in each one there were but a few votes difference. The election finally resulted as follows:

Captain—J. B. Fonner.
First Lieutenant—H. C Malm.
Second Lieutenant—W. A. Spice.
Orderly Sergeant—O. C. Meyer.

E. A. Perrigine, state organizer of the A. O. U. W., has almost completed the organization of a new lodgeat North Indianapolis. It will probably be instituted next week. Two weeks ago a new lodge was instituted at West Indianapolis. With the one at North Indianapolis the order will have six lodges in Indianapolis and suburbs.

The installation of officers of the improved Order of Red Men, will take place on the first Wednesday night in January, at which the Great Prophet Ellison, of Anderson, and Great Junior Sagamore Weaver, of Warsaw, will be present to conduct the installation services. The attendance will be large as the occasion will be of unusual interest.

The Elks will shortly give another social session at their hall, to which a limited number of invitations will be issued. This session will differ from others only in the fact that all the provender, etc., will be donated by members of the order and others, and the affair will be made more entertaining than usual. The assessments and fines will be levied as usual but the entire proceeds will be turned over to the charity fund. One of the fundamental principles of the order is charity.

Fort Wayne lodge No. 116, K. of P., is working along quietly. Last Tuesday evening they conferred the rank of page on one candidate, the rank of esquire on Eph. Daily and received the application of Samuel Rosenthal.

Phoenix lodge, No 101, K. of P., will not meet on Monday evening, December 25, although this is their regular meeting night. They will meet on Tuesday the 26th instead.

The street car employes have now a very strong organization of nearly 150 members. At their Saturday night session, on the 16th, they will hold an election of officers.

The installation of officers of the O. and O. club, held in their hall on Saturday evening, was one of enjoyment to every member present. Retiring President Joseph Nagel made the opening speech. Will Ryan, the newly elected president, made a speech and called on Daniel Hanna, the steam fitter, who gave a history of the club. It was organized December 6, 1890, with thirteen charter members and the initials O. and O. stand for "Queer and Odd." The club will give a grand ball in Saengerbund hall some time in the spring.

Borton Club.

The Borton club will hold an important meeting this evening at their rooms in the Arcade building to consider matters of interest to the organization, and every member is urged to be in attendance. The club has costly furnished rooms, which are provided with good reading matter and games calculated to make the evening pass pleasantly to members attending at any time. The Borton boys are doing good work and contribute of their means to send unfortunate men to the Borton cure, where they know they can be reclaimed from their ruinous drink habit. There are in the city of Fort Wayne nearly 200 men who have attended this institution and returned to lead sober lives. Knowing what a blessing the cure of the liquor disease has been to them they are eager to induce intemperate men to follow their example and rid themselves of this curse.

SIXTY CENT RATE.

Miners Will Have to Work Cheaper Than Heretofore.

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 12.—The meeting of the railroad coal operators here today to agree on a price for mining, came to an end without reaching an agreement. The discussion was very animated. No arrangements for a further meeting have been fixed. The indications now point toward the adoption of the sixty cent rate.

He Bears a Great

The subject of this sketch, Samuel Sothern, was born in London in 1866.

SAMUEL SOTHERN.

His father was the late E. A. Sothern. He made his first appearance on the stage in his native land in 1885, playing in "The Private Secretary." He came to this country two years later, when he played with John T. Raymond and afterwards with Henry E. Abbey, the season at ook Wallack's theater. He returned to England at the close of that season, and in partnership with G. W. Robinson saw "Sweet Lavender" out upon a tour which lasted three years. During that time he accepted an engagement at the Comedy theater, London, with Charles Hawtrey, which continued up to the time he sailed for New York to accept the engagement he now holds in support of his brother, E. H. Sothern, in Paul M. Potter's successful play, "Sheridan, or the Maid of Bath," which is still running at the Lyceum theater.

THE WHEEL.

All the dealers are agitating now the same question. How can we protect ourselves against bicycle thieves?—Sporting Life.

There is a Germantown family, composed of father and seven sons, each of whom owns and rides a bicycle.

It is estimated that the safety of 1895 is, on the average, from seven to ten pounds lighter than that of 1892.

At the rate the French have been going of late they will soon outdistance the English manufacturers of bicycles and tires.

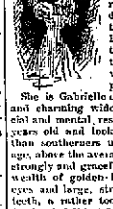
What an entertaining rider of an old-time "Ordinary" bicycle would kick up nowadays on the road among a lot of bicycle riders.

A MODERN JOAN D'ARC

WIDOW DE MATOS LEADS THE BRAZILIAN TROOPS.

"I FIGHT FOR GOD AND COUNTRY," SHE SAYS.

A Wealthy Woman Gives Up All Her Possessions to Lead—Charges Against the Rebel Troops—She Says It's a Heavenly Mission.



A THRILLING story is being told of the deeds and prowess of a heroine of the Joan D'Arc type which the revolution in Rio Grande has contributed to the history of the unwieldy southern republic.

She is Gabrielle do Matos, a young and charming widow, of great financial and mental resources. Barely 30 years old and looking much younger than southerners usually do at that age, above the average female height, strongly and gracefully built, with a wealth of golden hair, flashing blue eyes and large, strong and beautiful teeth, a rather too light and square forehead, full but firm lips and an aggressively prominent and beautifully turned chin, the Senhora is a striking figure as, mounted on a trained war steed, she flits across the line of battle conveying dispatches and other orders. For she has attached herself, as well as her belongings, to the cause of the federals in southern Brazil.

The story is that this lady, the widow of a wealthy lawyer and landed proprietor of Rio Prado, when the insurrection first broke out collected an immense herd of her cattle and had them driven across the border and into Uruguay and handed over to Gen. Juca for the use of his troops. This act was followed by one on the Joan d'Arc lines of enthusiasm and "mission to save the country" character. She set about recruiting a volunteer regiment of her own, and by liberal use of money secured a picked lot of sturdy fighters. Placing herself at their head and equipped with all sorts of camp material, arms and munitions, she one day presented herself at Juca's headquarters and tendered her services "For la Patria." Flocks and herds, men and money, and, last but not least, her fair and lively self were offered and gratefully received, and ever since she has been attached to the general's staff in the capacity of mascot to the army, and, incidentally, orderly to Juca.

Cool and courageous, in every engagement she has in some way or other distinguished herself either by the carrying of dispatches or by flitting about the field caring for and cheering the wounded and arousing the enthusiasm of the wavering. But she does no fighting, carrying no arms and, like a loyal and true woman, athletic to her tailor-made Parisian riding habit and hat, and rides like a woman on a conventional woman's side-saddle.

In her first engagement she gave a splendid exhibition of grit. The battle opened with all the customary South American fierceness and dash. Juca advised her to retire to a safer spot. No, her place was there, to do what she could. So in humor her and pressed her as much as possible by sortied in unimportant command to a captain of reserves and posted her off with it. But are she could accomplish the task the tide of battle turned and swept right down on to that part of the field.

She was between a vigorous cross fire. Turning to the right to escape this her horse was shot from under her. With the agility of a circus rider she sprang to the ground ere the animal fell, thus avoiding being crushed. Firmly gripping the bridle of one of some riderless cavalry horses that had followed her she removed the saddle [illegible] placing her own on the charger, mounted and was off, just as a picket of the enemy's cavalry that had started to "investigate" her mishaps up and was met by a squadron which Juca, observing her plight, had dispatched to her assistance.

Unaffected by this close call the heroic woman coolly proceeded on her way and delivered the dispatch. Ever since she has been Juca's most reliable aide-de-camp.

When the battles are over she devotes herself to hospital work, and is, need it be added, the presiding divinity of the federal army. The soldiers worship her, and are wholly animated with the idea which possesses herself that she really has a heavenly mission to purify or "save" the country. If so, heaven has given her a mighty difficult task to accomplish, beside which that of the celebrated Joan was a mere circumstance.

RAILROADS AND SHOPS.

Engineer George Kensill Falls and is Injured.

The Panhandle Reduces Its Shop Force—A List of the Grip Victims—Local and Personal.

Blacksmith Al Throckmorton is laid up again with rheumatism.

Machinist Herman Regel is working again after an illness of a week.

Leo Ellard, painter in the Pittsburg shops, is suffering with the grip.

Charles Stewart, a blacksmith employed in the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty.

Transfer Agent Bowser, who has been quite ill for several days, is improving, and is now sitting up.

James Griffith and Benjamin Bowman, pattern makers, have taken positions in the Electric Light works.

Friendship lodge, No. 70, International Machinists' union, will nominate officers at its meeting tomorrow evening.

Mrs. Geary, of Cosse, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Charles Johnson, of Brookside street, who is quite ill with the grip.

William Brossard, the Pittsburg blacksmith, is confined to his house in Bloomingdale with a severe attack of the grip.

The Pittsburg boilershop was closed until noon today and the men turned out in a body at the funeral of their late shopmate, John Backes.

Foreman C. F. Knothe, of the Electric Light works, who was injured a few days ago, called at the shop a few minutes yesterday. He is improving.

Thirty employes were dismissed from the Panhandle shops at Logansport Saturday evening, the officials preferring this method of reducing expenses to that of working less hours.

Colonel Samuel Moody, assistant general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, with headquarters at Cincinnati, has returned from Europe and is visiting friends in Pennsylvania.

James Shinn, of Logansport, a salesman, fell under a moving passenger train at that city yesterday morning and his right leg was mangled so badly that amputation at the knee was necessary.

H. A. Richards and Fountain Holmes resumed work in the Pittsburg machine shop this morning, after an absence on account of sickness. The former had lung fever and the latter the grip.

A. Blanbeou, of the air brake department of the Pittsburg shops, is sick and off duty. Fred Mennewish, of the same department, returned to work this morning, having recovered from an illness.

Articles of incorporation of the Terre Haute, Olney and Chester road were filed with the secretary of the state of Illinois last week. The capital is $2,000,000 and the principal office will be at Olney, Ill.

Several Fort Wayne firemen have received invitations to the annual ball of Eureka division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, which will be held in Tomlinson hall, Indianapolis, on New Year's night.

Frank Conoss, the apprentice in the Wabash machine shop, mashed the bone of the second finger of his left hand yesterday. The hammer with which he was working flew off its handle with the above result.

The Lake Erie and Western earned in November $251,625, a decrease as compared with November, 1892, of $33,302. Present indications are that the road will fall a little short of earning as much in 1893 as it did in 1892.

On Wednesday the Indiana Car Service association will hold its annual meeting for the election of officers. Two or three men are working vigorously to get the position of general manager, now held by W. T. Bacon.

John Page, Pittsburg baggagemaster, is around again, though still unable to resume his run. John was sick with typhoid fever for sixteen weeks and narrowly escaped the grave. He hopes to be able to work in a week or two.

C. C. Miller, C. S. Hilton, Frank Hough and Harry Templar left yesterday for New York to testify in an important case in court in which the Fort Wayne Electric Light company is interested. They will be absent several days.

Night Watchman Richards, of the Electric Light works, is moving his family and household effects today from Miner street to West DeWald street. Link Johnson, in the meantime, will look after the watchman's duties at the shops.

T. J. Kelley, a mechanic in the shops of the Vandalia at Terre Haute, has received letters patent on an invention which greatly increases the efficiency of the Westinghouse air brake. The device has been tested on Vandalia locomotives, and is said to be a valuable addition to the operation of air brakes.

William McG. Grafton, chief engineer of the signal and switch corps of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburg, was shot at one night last week by a highwayman at his home in Sewickley, Pa. A bundle of letters in his pocket stopped the force of the bullet and saved his life. Grafton is well known here, where he has frequently called on business.

The Lake Shore is still engaged in straightening curves on its lines in northern Indiana, having spent fully $1,000,000 in such improvements in Indiana the last two years. A new line has been surveyed through Laporte, Ind., and parties are negotiating for the right of way in order that the company may straighten and otherwise improve its property in that vicinity.

Engineer George Kensill, while en route from his home to the Pittsburg depot this morning, slipped and fell on the icy pavement and cut a gash two inches long in the palm of his right hand. His right ankle was also severely sprained. Mr. Kensill intended to take the accommodation for Chicago, whereto he was going to look after some private business, but his injuries were so severe that he was compelled to postpone the trip.

The railway postal clerks have a unique method, says a contemporary, for learning the routes on which post-offices are located. Take, for example, the state of Pennsylvania, in which there are over 5,000 offices. The prospective mail distributor buys a quantity of small blank cards and on each of these he writes the name of an office. On the back of the card he writes the name of the route by which the office is served with its mail. Taking in hand a package of these cards, he goes over them, one after another, studiously looking at the back each time, and getting the name and route clearly associated in his mind. The second time he goes through the pack he finds that he knows the half of the route by reading the name of the office. If he is dull student who, upon going over a pack of cards a dozen times, does not know them thoroughly.

Tennessee has solved—or thinks she has—her convict labor problem by purchasing an immense tract of coal lands and going into the coal hauling and shipping business, the mining, of course, being done by the State's prisoners. But it is to be feared that the officials will find that they have but stirred up another hornet's nest. A new howl will come from the coal producers, who formerly rented the convicts, while the free laborers, who stirred up the trouble over the rent system, will be none the less vehement in their protests against convict competition in its new garb.

OFFICIAL TEST.

The Olympia Will Speed In Santa Barbara Channel.

San Francisco, Dec. 12.—At noon today the cruiser Olympia will go to sea to make the official test of speed in the Santa Barbara channel.

Chief Engineer Morris says the machinery is now working without the slightest friction and the cruiser is in far better condition than on the occasion of the recently attempted trial. He is confident the Olympia will make an average of 22½ knots.

Rev. H. H. Fairall, D. D., editor of the Iowa Methodist, says, editorially: "We have tested the merits of Ely's Cream Balm, and believe that, by a thorough course of treatment, it will cure almost every case of catarrh. Ministers, as a class, are afflicted with head and throat troubles, and catarrh seems more prevalent than ever. We cannot recommend Ely's Cream Balm too highly."

I used Ely's Cream Balm for dry catarrh. It proved a cure.—H. F. M. Weeks, Denver.

A WHITE CITY

At Y. M. C. A. Hall. Representing the World's Fair.

Some of the Many Attractions—A Few Society Events of the Day—Personal Items.

Everything that skill, money and abundant taste could do to make the World's Fair festival at the Y. M. C. A. hall an event of importance, both in social and business circles, has been done by the ladies of the auxiliary of the city department. The preparations are now complete and this evening the fair will be open to the public. Like the great world's fair, the booths representing the different buildings are decorated in white, with the exception of "Midway," where color in harmony with the exhibits have been chosen for the decorations. Among the many attractions are the Japanese tea house in charge of Mrs. G. W. McCaskey and Mrs. G. W. Stilson. Any amount of home made candy can be had at the candy booth where Miss Helen Swyser is in charge. The corn palace which is unique in design and heaped high with golden and white grain will be presided over by Mrs. S. Smith. Mesdames Torrance and McGuire will have charge of the rolling and Sedan chairs which will convey visitors to any part of the grounds or buildings. Orange cider will be dispensed by Mrs. A. I. Randall and Mrs. Grindel and Miss Lauth Dales.

A fragrant cup of cocoa will be served by Mrs. Greer, at the Van Horten Cocoa house. Misses Edna and Viola Greer will assist as Hungarian waitresses. For some time a collection has been made of art treasures, and Mrs. D. Brooks will have charge of the palace where they are displayed. In the center of the hall is the liberal arts booth, in charge of the merchants of the city. The horticultural booth will have an excellent display of chrysanthemums, roses, orchids, carnations and foliage plants. Mrs. T. H. Gould, at the Wellington restaurant, will serve oysters, coffee, etc., a la Jackson park.

Mrs. Henry Orff and Mrs. C. F. Hettler will have charge of the Vienna bakery, and waiting maids in Austrian costume will serve visitors with lunch. The Midway will be well represented by the beauty show, in charge of Miss Kate Chapin and Miss Jean McLachlin; Hagenbeck's trained animal show, where a chief attraction will be the eight-legged calf, will be in charge of Mrs. P. D. Synser, Mrs. G. W. Senour. The foreign exhibit will be in charge of Mrs. Charles E. Grill, and will be unusually fine, as contributions have been received from most every state in the union. At the Bedouin Encampment bread will be made in the good old Midway way by Mrs. E. A. K. Hackett. Columbian guards will be in attendance and answer all important or unimportant questions. The Hindoo juggler and the donkey will be attractions at the streets of Cairo. Altogether it will be a very amusing and interesting affair and deserves to be well patronized.

THE DIAMOND.

The late Daniel Sullivan, the once well known professional catcher, is said in several obituary notices to have played with the champion Providence team of the National league. This is a mistake, as Brown and Gross played for the Providence club in 1879, and Gilligan and Sowa in 1881, the two seasons that club won the pennant. He has been confounded probably with Daniel Sullivan, who caught in a few games for the Providence club, and was an umpire in 1881.

Comer and Burke of the New York team and Quinn of the St. Louis Browns, each took part in no fewer than 125 championship games of the National league and American association during the past season.

William R. Armore has been engaged by the Buffalo club for next season. He is said to be a good general player, being a strong left-handed hitter, an excellent outfielder and fast at the bases.

Mme. Nevides has been engaged to sing Elsa in "Lohengrin" and Venus in "Tannhauser" at Bairouth next summer.

Football men are generally noted for the length of their hair, but the Crescents of New York have a bald-headed player. His name is Fitzgerald.

HAS GOT AN INTEREST NOW.

"Two commercial tourists of the pine board persuasion met in the Union depot the other day," says a writer.

"'Hello Charley,' says No. 1, 'I haven't seen you in an age. What are you doing now?'

"'Oh, I'm in the same old line,' responds No. 2.

"'With the same house?'

"'Yes, same old concern, but situated a little differently.'

"'How is that?'

"'Well, I've got an interest now.'

"'Is that so? How long since?'

"'Since the first of the month.'

"'Let me congratulate you.'

"'Yes, the old man told me I'll got to take an interest in the business or quit, so I took the interest.'"

That's What Our Readers Have Done.

They have taken an interest in our proposition to furnish them a magnificent series of photographic views of famous scenes throughout the world, but it was not forced upon them. They have done it as a matter of choice. They realized that "The Sentinel" was offering them a splendid opportunity, and one that in all probability would not pass their way again, and that have not needed coercion as the "pine board tourist" did to stir them to action.

Have You Attended to This Matter Yet?

If not, cut out the coupons regularly as they appear in this paper from day to day and save them. Send any three coupons calling for the same part with TEN CENTS to COUPON DEPARTMENT, SENTINEL, Fort Wayne, Indiana.

And in return receive by mail the part called for by your coupons and which will consist of sixteen of the beautiful views comprised in the series of "SIGHTS AND SCENES OF THE WORLD."

We will vouch for the statement that among those who avail themselves of our offer there will not be even one disappointed person, but that on the contrary they will be more eager, if possible, than before to get the entire twenty parts, and they will continue from day to day to cut out the coupons as they appear in "The Sentinel."

CHEER UP!

No Hard Times With Us—We Keep Things Soft

By Using Steam—Steam Baked Bread at the Chicago Bakery.

Among the thousands of exhibits at the World's Fair in Chicago none were more interesting (to us) than the Bakers' and Confectioners' Tools and Utensils exhibited by the great W. R. Johnston Co., of London, England, chief among which was an oven with complete fixtures for Steam Bread Baking. This new system of steam baking is one of the best additions known to the baker's trade, which we have adopted and just completed. It is a well known fact that bread baked with natural gas becomes dried before it is taken from the oven. By our new system of steam baking we can now supply our customers with a sweet loaf of bread of delicious flavor and which will keep moist for a number of days. Try to buy only at the Chicago Bakery, largest Bread and Fancy Cake Bakery in Northern Indiana.
